PRESS RELEASE

Recent developments within the so-called tripartite alliance confirm our long held view that President Jacob Zuma is but a hostage of his friends in COSATU and SACP. Firstly, his appointment of a broad church cabinet was not in the interests of the country but was meant to appease those who campaign for him in Polokwane.

Secondly, while we do not hold any grief for Trevor Manuel, the amateurish and vulgar manner in which he is attacked by COSATU is in bad taste. The irony is that, it is the very same organizations that campaigned for the establishment of the planning commission.

Thirdly, that President Zuma is prepared to violate the laws of the country, including the Constitution; in order to appease his masters in COSATU and SACP is of great concern to the PAC.
